

The most romantic places in the world

From city breaks to remote island getaways, these are the best places to visit as a couple

BY LAURA CHUBB, FRANCESCA SYZ AND LAUREN BURVILL

10 August 2022

Romance can be many things to many people, but few can resist the allure of a romantic escape for two. While there's no wrong answer when it comes to romance, some of the world's most beautiful spots lend themselves to catering to couples, especially when it comes to hotels. So whether you're planning a honeymoon, an anniversary or a weekend getaway just because, these are our top picks for the most romantic places in the world, plus where to stay in each.

1. Santorini, Greece

Santorini is the knockout Greek island – the island with the best views, the best sunsets, and the best hotels. Combine all of these elements and it's a recipe for one of the most romantic spots in the world. Days are best spent out on the water, sailing to nearby islands and hopping between the best beaches in Santorini. But then again you could easily stay at one of the best hotels in Santorini – where private infinity pools boast the best seats in the house – and never want to leave.

For a romantic glimpse at local village life check into Andronis Boutique Hotel, a series of traditional cave-style suites and villas with private infinity pools, cave pools and hot tubs, set right in the heart of Oía. Another option is Perivolos, set within 300-year-old stables and a clutch of fisherman's shacks with a different view of the caldera from every window. It's set a little way out of Oia, making it perfect for retreating with a very cold glass of wine and your loved one to the pool. Don't miss a massage on your private terrace.