

BRITISH VOGUE

As the (very wet) British summer comes to an end and the colder months loom, what better time to book yourself in for some pampering? With outstanding views, innovative treatments and gourmet dining, Europe is home to some of the most rejuvenating retreats in the world. Take Royal Champagne Hotel And Spa, which nestled amongst the region's rolling vineyards offers a picture-perfect sleep experience. After a full-body MOT and complete detox, while going offline in the beauty of nature? VivaMayr in the Austrian Alps has you covered.

Below, find British Vogue's pick of the best spas in Europe that deliver on luxury wellness.

Andronis Concept Wellness Resort

With the most astonishing views of the island, Santorini's beautifully designed Andronis Concept Wellness Resort is the newest sister property to Andronis's other luxury hotels in Oia and Athens, situated just outside the picturesque village of Imerovigli. The spacious, light-filled rooms all have private plunge pools, whilst the main pool is large enough to allow you to get some proper swimming done. Don't miss the complimentary morning yoga sessions on the terrace, and be sure to book a massage at sunset, overlooking the sea. It's also the perfect base for exploring the island, if you can tear yourself away.
